

National and international mechanisms for the protection of human rights

The study of the discipline "National and international mechanisms for the protection of human rights" belongs to the cycle of professional and practical disciplines.

The subject of this study is cognition of the essence of international standards of human rights and the basic mechanisms of their protection. This discipline is aimed at students' acquisition of basic legal knowledge on the content of human rights, mechanisms and procedures for their protection in Ukraine and abroad.

The purpose of teaching the discipline "National and international mechanisms for the protection of human rights" is to provide students with a holistic understanding of international human rights standards and systems of national and international bodies and organizations that protect and enforce human rights. This will provide the necessary competence to protect the violated personal rights.

The task of the discipline is the formation of the following learning studies:

1) knowledge about:

- the content of the Constitution of Ukraine and international acts on the legal status of man and citizen;

- system of international and national bodies and organizations for the protection of human rights;

- Ukraine's place in the system of international protection of human rights;

2) ability to:

- use legal knowledge to identify human rights violations and protect them;

- formulate their own legal position;

As a result of mastering the discipline students will be able to:

- work independently with the legislation of Ukraine in the field of human rights protection;

- interpret the content of international conventions and treaties and determine the possibility of their implementation in Ukraine;

- assess the competence of national and international bodies in the field of human rights protection;

- independently analyze the legal situation and identify ways to protect violated rights.

Course content: the concept of human rights and international standards; basic mechanisms for the protection of human rights and freedoms in Ukraine; international legal acts in the field of human rights protection; the right of citizens of Ukraine to appeal to conventional human rights bodies; regional and universal international human rights organizations, etc.